11:30-11:57 Social Time for guests to share laughter, memories, aches and pains

12:03 Richard welcomed everyone and offered thanks for the food. We appreciated Susie's daughter, Stephanie, serving the food today.

Scholarship Winners- Tomi announced Elyssa Crossley from Queen Anne's and Cassidy McElroy from Kent Island were the recipients this year. Elyssa and her mother were able to join us and Elyssa thanked the group for the scholarship. She will be attending Delaware Valley University pursuing a degree in agricultural education. Cassidy was working and unable to attend on Wednesday.

Richard thanked Tomi and Bobbie for their work reading applications and choosing the winners.

Dr. G, from Marathon Health Services, shared that routine primary care is available to county employees, their dependents or spouses and retirees with no copay. This includes vaccinations and some medications. It is a closed office with county support. He made it clear the county has no access to medical records. Lab Corp services are also on site.

Sue Miller replied that we have money when Richard asked.

Richard thanked Sandy and Madeline for arranging the excellent presentation on Estate Planning. Feedback was very positive and several attendees have scheduled appointments. Richard asked anyone who knew of possible speakers to let Sandy know.

The newsletter Madeline puts out is recognized statewide for excellent information, photos and format.

Although absent, Jackie was thanked for her efforts on Facebook.

Steve was thanked for his representation on the State Legislative Committee and his reporting to our group. It was noted that our healthcare package is secure at this time.

Susan Boone gave her Necrology report honoring and mourning these individuals:

- Charles Emory
- James Conyer, Sr.
- Gloria Kelley
- Lorraine Handy
- Pam Edwards

Mary reported the state is working hard on increasing membership. She encouraged everyone to share QACRSPA information with retirees because joining helps you stay up to date. There is currently a contest to design a new state newsletter masthead. Dave and Sharon Brown took candy bars and letters explaining member benefits to retirees in all the schools.

Richard distributed information from the state meeting regarding home emergency preparedness.

Dr. Matt Kibler, the current assistant superintendent, has been appointed interim superintendent for one year.

Richard encouraged others to step in now to become familiar with duties of officers on the executive committee. Working together at this time will make the transition in two years easier.

We were asked to save hard plastic bottle caps that become benches at the 4-H Park. If you're not sure where to take them, bring them to the Back to School breakfast. I will make sure they get to the 4H club.

1:15 Meeting adjourned and prize BINGO began
